We loved trying all the new sports and activities at Have A Go Day! We jumped, we spiked, we bounced, we passed, we dribbled, we laughed, we served and we won tokens. Congratulations to Kea, who were the overall winners – they will enjoy some free play on Friday.

A word from the Principal - Mr Kelly.....

Tēnā koutou,

Mid-year reporting time is upon us. At this time of year, and the end of year, we send home reports charting the progress of your tamariki. Our reports now supplement the more detailed information on learning provided by the student trackers that were shared with you earlier in the year.

Our reports measure a number of things. Attendance is recorded on the front page and is often directly related to results - as we can do little to forward a student's learning without them being present.

Along with Attendance is 'Late to School' and this can also impact on learning outcomes as tamariki who are late often miss out on some of the very important first learning period and the information that our teachers share to set the day's learning in place.

We assess 'Positive Attitude' to all of our curriculum areas as attitude can have a direct impact upon engagement and learning.

The coloured ladder shows where your child, or children, are working in relation to their curriculum year levels. These July assessments are made mid-year but are based upon the level aimed to be achieved by the end of the year. This assessment is ascertained by expected progress half way through the year.

Learning does not typically occur as a line that rises without interruption. Sometimes there are periods where a learner makes slower progress and sometimes faster progress. Teachers will be happy to discuss progress at the parent/teacher meetings scheduled for early term 3. Teachers will explain your child's progress by referring to each child's personal student tracker.

The Key Competencies graphs measure your child's social and academic skills on a scale that reveals their ability to consistently exhibit positive behaviours. These behaviours are designated by the New Zealand Curriculum to be the building blocks we all need when managing ourselves in the adult world.

Finally the teacher's general comment and student's comment on their own learning are perhaps the parts of the report parents are drawn to. These comments are where an explanation is provided of strengths, areas to improve upon, interests and goals that are a clear written assessment of where the student stands from the teacher's, and their own, perspective.

We are proud of the efforts the majority of our tamariki put into their learning, and we are determined that terms three and four will see an increased effort among all of our students.

Ngā mihi
